Dear Ferd,

When you come down next week, will you please bring along any income tax material you have. In particular, that will include any return that Elsie may have filed while you were gone or any return that the two of you may be thinking of filing now. We can then go over them with you and square them away with your earnings from my company so that you don't get in any trouble with the tax people.

Best regards to Elsie. I am looking forward to seeing you.
